The Southern Pacific Reduces its Rate of Interest to 6 Per Cent.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—(Special Dispatch.) The rate of interest on deferred payments in the case of land sold by the land department of the Southern Pacific Company will hence forth be reduced to 6 per cent. This refers not only to contracts made on or after April 9, 1894, but, on certain conditions, to outstanding contracts. In regard to the latter pfivilege, the paying up of 10 per cent. of the principal is the condition required under which the rate of interest on the balance will be 6 per cent. To illustrate the case: If a man owes a balance of $1000 and his interest of 7 per cent. of the principal and $70 interest, and his account will then stand $900 due at 6 per cent., or $45 per annum.

The announcement affects contracts amounting to over $2,150,000, and refers to all lands sold by the Southern Pacific Company, whether through the Pacific Improvement Company or in Oregon. This will affect about 2000 purchasers of land in various parts of this State and Oregon. When the land department was formed in 1884 the rate of interest on deferred payments was 10 per cent. In 1890 the rate was lowered to 7 per cent., outstanding contracts, however, being allowed to work themselves out at the original rate. The order reducing the rate to 6 per cent. was made by C. P. Huntington today. He does not pretend that the reduction is made from purely philanthry pick of the company or in Oregon. OGDEN, April 9.—This evening Judges Miner and Merritt signed a mandatory restraining order on the Southern Pacific Railroad restraining them from keeping or allowing the in-dustrial army brought by the said rail-road company "unlawfully in said Ter-ritory," and ordering them all back into the twenty-seven box-cars, or from keeping any portion of the army in the cars any longer in the Territory than cars any longer in the Territory than is absolutely necessary to haul them away. This means that the Southern Pacific Railroad must at once carry the army back from whence it came. It is impossible to ascertain whether the company will comply with the order tonight, in the morning, or at all. It is stated that United States Marshal Brigham will enforce the order shal Brigham will enforce the order compelling the men to return to the box-cars at once. The result of the injunction has caused much excitement, injunction has caused much excitement, as it is known that there will be great danger of trouble in enforcing it, the industrials having repeatedly asserted that they will not go back.

Developments of an exciting nature may be looked for. Judge Marshall, attorney for the Southern Pacific, gave notice of appeal to the Supreme Court from the order of the lower court. He asked for a stay of execution until the appeal could be heard. The request was denied by the court. At this hour, II p.m., Marshal Brigham is swearing in sixty deputy marshals He had no difficulty in getting all the men he wanted. Notice is to be served on Superintendent Knapp of the Southern Pacific within an hour.

Superintendent Knapp of the Southern Pacific within an hour.

The hearing for an injunction against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company was heard before Chief Justice Merritt and Associate Justice Miner. It appears, from the evidence of the officers of the army, that it was composed of vagrants and tramps, who shad no money or means of support, and who started from San Francisco without either food or bedding, and with but scanty clothing; that their transportation was paid from San Francisco; to Oakland by the Mayor of San Francisco; that their fare from Oakland to Sacramento, in cattle cars, was paid by contributions from the citizens of Oakland, and that their fare from Sacramento to Ogden was paid by the Governor of California and the Mayor of Sacramento, but that, nothing whatever was paid by any member of the army.

It also transpired that Gov. West

SOUTHERN PACIFIC LAW.

SAN FRANCISCO. April 9.—C. F. Crocker, first vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, was today asked what the corporation would do if complaint should be made that the interstate commerce law had been violated by taking 1000 members of the industrial army out of California, across Nevada and its Utah for $600, when the regular rate would have called for $20,000.

"If for one, would like to be convicted, if we have transgressed the law," responded Mr. Crocker. "I have a curiosity to know what the courts could do in such a case. The interstate commerce law appears to be against such a procedure, but would a court decide that a company should refuse to move such a crowd of men in a way convenient to itself and incidentally remnerative to a certain degree, when to refuse would be to invite the forcible incursions of the men. The company was obliged to do as it did, or if they declined to do so, the men would have ridden anyhow. We have had experience and know what it means when a large body of men like that takes a notion to change their location."
"It was the only sensible thing we could do," said General Superintendent Fillmore, "this making of a charity rate for the poor fellows; it was a humane act that had to be performed regardless of the legal effect. Those unfortunate men wanted to get on the road 40 wards their homes and we helped them. If the law wants to punish us for that, I guess we can stand it."

SALT LAKE, April 9.—At Ogden
this afternoon a hearing came up at 2 o'clock on the order to show cause why this afternoon a hearing came up at 2 o'clock on the order to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued in the case of the Southern Pacific Company to restrain that company from unloading what is known as the industrial army within the city limits of Ogden. A demurrer was filed in the case to the sufficiency of the complaint, and confessed by the plaintiff. The plaintiff was allowed to file an amended complaint, and the defense was given until 3 o'clock in which to answer the amended complaint, and show cause why a permanent injunction should not be granted. At 3 o'clock more time was asked to produce evidence. This was granted, and the case comes up again for argument at 7 o'clock.

Superintendent Bancroft of the Union Pacific, Welby of the Rio Grande Western, Knapp of the Southern Pacific, Col. Baker, commander of the industrials, Capt. Barker, Gov. West, Marshal Pratt and others testified. The evidence proved without doubt the indigence of the army, and pointed strongly in the direction that the citizens and officials of California were instrumental in foisting these twelve hundred paupers upon this city.

A UNION PACIFIC MOVE.

A UNION PACIFIC MOVE.
SALT LAKE, April 9.—The Union Pacific Railway Company has fears that the so-called industrial army now being held at Ogden may become desperate and attempt to use forcible means to obtain transportation East. Attorney P. L. Williams of the above named road went before Chief Justice Merritt today and presented a peti-tion reciting bat the men composing the army were destitute and seeking transportation to the Missouri River; that the petitioners were not warranted in giving them free transportation and were unwilling to do so; that these menare liable to become desperate and endeavor to take forcible possession of the railroad property and that such interference is liable to result in great destruction and waste of property and possibly bloodshed. transportation to the Missouri River possibly bloodshed.

The petitoners prayed that an order of the court be issued to the United States Marshal commanding him to protect all of said property and that he call to his assistance whatever force may be necessary to preserve the same. The order was signed, as requested. The order of the court concludes: "And the said Marshal is hereby further ordered to call to his assistance as deputies or as a posse commitatius all the necessary aid for duly executing this order."

RENO RECRUITS.

RENO (New.,) April 9.—"Gen." Kelly, of the industrial army, passed through this morning en route to Ogden. He told Maj.-Gen. Houbert to accept all recruits wishing to join the regiment at Reno and get them to Ogden as soon as possible. He said he would hold the main division there or at Salt Lake until their arrival. The regiment here numbers eighty-two, and recruits are still arriving from the surrounding towns.

Southern Pacific Railway at Ogden.
Superintendent Bancroft of the Wyoming division has been advised to protect the interests of the Union Pacific Company and not allow the army to come East unless the unemployed are able to pay their transportation across the country from Ogden.

The officials at headquarters said:
"The Union Pacific will not recede from the position taken by Superintendent Bancroft, unless the army can pay its fare on our line. We don't believe in moving large bodies of men across the country in the face of opposition to localities having enough unemployed of their own to take care of. Many communities between Ogden and Omaha are already burdened with hundreds of men in idleness, whom they feel in duty bound to protect. To move this large body from Ogden to the river would mean an additional hardship on Omaha citizens, pending their further disposition east of the river."

SECOND LOS ANGELES REGIMENT.

SECOND LOS ANGELES REGIMENT. SAN BERNARDINO, April 9.-Vinette's industrial army is still in camp in this city, and there is no present prospect of their departure in the near future. Both railroad companies demand compensation for their transportation to the Missouri River. Sheriff Booth has letters from both companies. The Santa Fe insists on regular fare, and is taking steps to guard their rolling-stock from sedzure, in case an attempt is made to pass over their line without payment of fare. A letter from the Southern Pacific officials says that they demand some compensation. The army has offered the latter road $150 for transportation to Deming, and Superintendent Muir has taken the offer under advisement.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Represent-tives Raynor of Maryland, Everett and D'Neill of Massachusetts, Lockwood of New York and some other Democratic listricts have concluded not to go into the Democratic House caucus called for tomorrow night to consider the repeal of the State bank tax.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—SENATE.—
The proceedings in the Senate today from the opening to the closing of the session were full of interest. The first in point of time was the swearing in of Mr. Walsh as the Senator from Georgia, to serve out the term of the late Senator Colquitt.

gia, to serve out the term of the late Senator Colquitt.

Two resolutions intended to facilitate debate on the tariff bill were introduced, one by Senator Mills providing for an amendment to the rules so as to permit of the previous question, and the other by Senator Allen providing for the taking of the final vote on the bill on June 5, allowing three days for debate under the five-minute rule. Both went over until further action.

The Wolcott resolution, looking to the coinage of Mexican dollars for the China trade was discussed, but action on it was deferred until tomorrow. It provides for the negotiation of a treaty with Mexico allowing the coinage of Mexican dollars at Urited States mints for export to China.

Senator Wolcott addressed the Senate in support of the resolution, which he asserted did not touch or affect the general question of bimetallism; that it was simply a suggestion to a friendly sister republic that our idle mints in the West should be in operation on the coinage of silver which would be put in circulation in the Orient. Such a proposal, he said, could not have been made if there had been

Such a proposal, he said, could not have been made if there had been more favorable legislation, but the veto of the signiorage bill left them free to act on the resolution. While the seigniorage bill was utterly important, the lesson of its veto was invaluable. It was important because it provided simply for the coinage of silver without awaiting any provision for future production of silver.

bill last summer men had risen in both houses of Congress and avowed the undying friendship of the President for silver, asserting that as soon as the infamous Sherman law was pushed aside the first opportunity which presented itself would be seized for the introduction of a bill in favor of silver, for which the President would stand sponsor.

"If one thing was made clear by the veto," asserted Senator Wolcott, "it was that the President is an active, consistent and implacable enemy of silver. He has been consistently reticent and never pretended to be anything else than an opponent of silver, and he had the friendship of the trust companies and moneyed interests, in whose nostrils the word 'silver' has been a stench."

When Senator Morrill moved to refer it to the Committee on Finance, Senator Peffer demanded the yeas and nays, and the motion was carried by a vote of 35 to 13. Senator Hill then addressed the Senate on the tariff bill.

The speech of Senator Hill today was chiefly devoted to an extensive and bitter attack on the income-tax feature of the Wilson bill. His opening remarks, however, took a wider range.

"The political revolution," he began, "which commenced in 1890 and culminated in 1892 was an emphatic expression of popular will in behalf of certain governmental policies. Measures and not men were largely the issues involved in that movement. Rightly interpreted, it indicated the public sentiment in opposition to intrenchment upon the reserved rights of the States through odious Federal election laws, some proposed and others then existing. It voiced the general demand for a discontinuance of the unwise and indefensible financial system of silver bullion purchased by the government, instead of the coinage contemplated by the Constitution, a system equally a hindrance to the return to bimetallism, as well as a menace to a sound and stable currency; it manifested the desire for a better administration of public affairs, greater economy in governmental expeditures, and the exaction of a higher official standard in the exection of a higher

"For my own part as a Democrat," he said, "I prefer indirect taxation and tariff reform above direct taxes and tariff extinction. I prefer taxing foreign products, I follow Jefferson in regard to even that species of indirect taxation on home products by internal revenue, taxes not good to be extended and the first to be rid of when their need is past. If McKinleyism is socialism for the benefit of the rich and an income tax is socialism for the and an income tax is socialism for the benefit of the poor, no true American will look to the hair of the dog to cure with look to the hard of the day to the his bite. Americans will reject so-cialism of both kinds. If my counsels were heeded, I would surprise and satisfy the country by conservatism in our progress in revenue reform. The McKinley bill lost the country to our our progress in revenue reform. The McKinley bill lost the country to our opponents by its extreme features in one direction, and we should avoid the opposite extreme."

He quoted from the speech of Senator Voorhees that the passage of the bill would produce a surplus and said that according to this statement the bill has "jumped out of the frying-pan into the fire." From a deficiency there had arisen an immoderate surplus. One extreme has been succeeded by another—the committee had taken sugar, iron, coal and other articles from the free list and made them dutiable and had provided for a tax upon sugar estimated by official experts to realize $41,822,623.61 and an additional tax on spirits, from which $10,000,000 is anticipated. Yet, knowing these large additions of revenue sources to the bill, the committee will retained the income. tions of revenue sources to the bill, the committee still retained the income

In conclusion, he defined his position In conclusion, he defined his position in these earnest words: "I stand ready to support any reasonable measure for tariff reform, framed within the lines and based upon the principles which I have partially indicated, and which I have partially indicated, and which were fully set forth in my speech in opening the political campaign in Brooklyn on September 19, 1892. I will cheerfully vote for the Mills bill and, loin you in making any material reductions of duties therein. I am ready to waive all minor reference of details, which do not involve a question of principles.

President, this is an important in the history of the Democratic The failure of the tariff revision the defeat of the Democratic position, if not the revision and annih lation of our party. Moreover, it means injury to the best interests of the country. Let those who insist on injecting into this bill this odious and un-Democratic principle of an income tax pause and reflect upon the possi-ble consequence of their demands. They should realize that it means the loss of the control of this Senate, now nearly equally divided between the two at parties; it means the loss of next House of Representatives; it ans the loss of the electoral votes of New York, New Jersey, Connecti-cut and, probably, every Northern State; and, finally, it means the loss of the next Presidency and the loss piles.

"They should consider whether there is anything about an income tax so sacred, so desirable, so popular, so just and so defensible, that its maintenance is worth the risk which they are precipitating. Let them remember 1869, and the ultra demands then made upon the Democratic party, to which it could not honorably accede, demands which led to our revision and death; let them remember the 'triumphs of our opponents, the civil war that followed, the devastation, the suffering, the humiliation, the force bills which threatened, and all the incidents of the terrible years, which darkerfed our party's and our country's history from 1860 to 1884, when, through wiser dounsels, moderate action and restored confidence, we were intrusted with power again, and, reflecting upon all these feelings, let them say whether it is the part of wisdom, by the insistence upon extreme demands, to imperil the success of our party again, and thereby tend to retard the progress, diminish the glory and endanger the best and highest interests of our common country."

At 4:25 o'clock Senator Hill concluded his speech, which was greeted with a burst of applause.

Senator Harris then demanded the full reading of the bill. Heretofore, he said, the debate had proceeded by unanimous consent, without a full reading, and, as the bill would have to be read in full at some time, he was anxious to have it done now. The question was debated at some length, and was becoming somewhat tiresome when Senator Manderson, remarking that the discussion was being drawn out to an interminable length, moved that the Senate adjourn. The yeas and nays were demanded, and the Senate refused to adjourn.

The yeas and nays were demanded, and the Senate refused to adjourn.

The Republicans continued to occupy the clerks with rulings and citations for an hour and ten minutes, when Mr. Hale moved to go into executive session, and, on a yea and nay vote, the Republicans, with two exceptions, refrained from voting. No quorum being present, the roll was called, when fifty Senators answered to their names.

A quorum being shown present the question recurred on motion of Senator Hale to go into executive session. Pending this a colloquy took place between Senator Harris and Senator Aldrich, in which each sharply criticised the other. The yeas and nays were again tealled on Senator Hale's motion, and the absence of a voting quorum being again shown, a call of the Senate was ordered. Fifty Senators having answered to the roll-call, the question again recurred on Senator Hale's motion. The yeas and nays disclosed no quorum voting whereupon Senator Quay moved an adjournment.

The yeas and nays on this question were called for, and the Senate refusing to acjourn. Senator Harris said that, under the rules, it was not in order to instruct the sergeant-at-arms to request the presence of absent Senators, while the roll-call showed the presence of a quorum, and he moved, at 6:15, that the Senate adjourn. The motion was agreed to, and the Senate adjourned until 12 o'clock tomorrow. HoUSE.—The House was depopulated today, three-fourths of the members were at the Senate listening to Senator Hill's speech on the tariff. Those who remained were occupied with District of Columbia affairs, but little actual business was transacted. At 5:10 o'clock the House adjourned.

The Bering Sea Bill Discussed by British Legislators.

Sir Charles Russell Says There is No Serio Difference With America-A Vote for the Government.

LONDON, April 9.-The Bering Sea Bill was one of the first measures dis-cussed today in the House of Commons. Sir Charles Russell, the Attorney-General, assured the House no serious difference of opinion between Great Britain and the United States existed regarding the provision of the Bering Sea Bill, which provided for the enforcement of the award of the tribunal of arbitration.

Following the defeat of the Marquis of Carmarthen's motion, Capt. Robert Marbury, Conservative, moved the adoption of an amendment to Sir William's motion providing that at the morning sitting on Tuesdays and Fridays, the government should have precedence for its measures, instead of the House giving the government all of Tuesday.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt moved that the government take the time of the House on Tuesdays and Fridays, the state of public business requiring that such a demand be made. The Right. Honorable A. J. Balfour opposed the motion, contending that the of Carmarthen's motion, Capt. Robert

The speaker's decision that the government had it was challenged and, in accordance with the rules, the absent members were summoned and the question again put. ## BAD CHARACTER.

Col. Breckinridge in a Legal Light.

Attorney Carlisle Discusses the Defendant.

Some Inconsistencies in the Latter's Testimony.

The Congressman Takes His Scoring Nor chalantly- Miss Pollard Listens to the Argument-A Counter-attraction.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service WASHINGTON, April 9 .- Attorney Carlisle, who is more deeply versed in international law than in breach-ofpromise litigations, consumed today in the Criminal Court in a review of the testimony before the jury in the Pollard-Breckinridge case. His statement was a detailed review of the evidence delivered in a clear, dispassionate man ner, although at times the lawyer re-ferred to Col. Breckinridge in very scathing but coolly-worded terms. The silver-headed Congressman con ducted himself very nonchalantly, chat-ting with his lawyers during the day, while Madeline Pollard sat directly in front of him, and kept her face shaded by a black gloved hand mo t of the time. Only once was there any interruption and that was when Col. Breckinridge set the speaker right on a point of family title, about which he seemed to be very particular. All day the closest attention was given to the speech by the jury and the spectators so that there was a deep silence in the courtroom. Mr. Carlisle will continue tomorrow, and it is not improbable that the speaking will last until Friday.

There was a counter attraction in the arraignment of a bigamist of local celebrity, so the number of curlosity-seekers hanging about the courtroom was greatly reduced.

"GIVING IT TO HIM."

Calderon Carlisle Belabors Col. Breckinridge

in Miss Pollard's Behalf.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Madelin Pollard wore a most becoming bonnet when she entered court today. The au-dience was composed mostly of members of the bar, and was smaller than customary. Judge Bradley announced his decision as to the prayers for instructions. Nine prayers of the plain-tiff were granted in a modified form and five were refused. Six prayers of the defendant were granted in a mod ified form, or substitutes were granted, and five refused. Incidentally, the Judge said, while the burden of proof and five retused. Intertainty, the Judge said, while the burden of proof rested on the plaintiff to show that a contract of marriage was entered into that if the defendant set up that the contract was not made in good faith, the burden of proof would rest upon him to show that there was an understanding to that effect.

Attorney Calderon Carlisle opened the argument for the plaintiff. After calling attention to the disparity in the social positions of the plaintiff and defendant, the attorney stated that all the defendant's influence, acquaintance and family connections had been used to unearth things detrimental to the plaintiff's character. He then reviewed the early life of Miss Pollard, which, he said, was free from reproach until she met the colonel.

Mr. Carlisle said that the attempts of the defense to impeach the plaintiff of the defense to impeach the profile to the coloner.

of the defense to impeach the plaintiff had falled. Alluding briefly to the en-gagement of the plaintiff to William Wood, he next invited the attention of the jury to the tintype photograph Miss Pollard at the time when she fi met Col. Breckinridge, and said: "Look at that girl, and then look at the plain at that girl, and then look at the plain-tiff, remembering how little the de-fendant says she has changed since then." The white-haired Congressman sat facing the jury, so they had no trouble in seeing him, as they lifted their faces, as though pulled by a string.

their faces, as though pulled by a string.

Taking up that meeting on the train, where first the lives of the two came together, and when their testimony began to differ, as they said, the lawyer remarked: "He has told you that there was nothing improper in her conduct then, nothing to alarm him. When we come to this meeting, let us consider who this defendant was. He was of one of the best families in Kentucky. His father was a prominent Presbyterian divine, and he was blessed with all the advantages which training and education could give. He blessed with all the advantages which training and education could give. He had great personal talents; he graduated from college at the early age of 18; in 1857 he was admitted to the bar: in 1859 he was married to a lady of one of the best families of Kentucky, who early died. In 1861 he was a second time married, to a lady so estimable that here on the witness-stand he could not forbear a tribute to that woman, who had been the mother of his seven children. As he told, he was a happy man, was loved by his wife and children. He confesses that no man ever had less excuse for what he did: that no man has had greater, advantages: that no words could paint the depth to which he fell. This was the man who met the schoolgirl on the train."

the depth to which he fell. This was the man who met the schoolgirl on the train."

From this point, Carlisie turned back to Mr. Rhodes, who was dead, he said, and who could not be called. The letters from Madeline Pollard had been read and disclosed no hint of the relations which Breckinridge had attempted to charge existed between them. Moreover, the description given by Mrs. Browne of his character and of his deference toward the young girl had been heard. It was not extraordinary that she should feel alarmed if Rhodes attempted to compel her to carry out the alternative of her contract and marry him. She knew Col. Breckinridge as a most distinguished lawyer of that section and, having met him, had been told by him that he knew her father. She wrote to him for advice. There began the second stage of the controversy between them. Col. Breckinridge had procured a letter which he said she had written him, which she prononuced a forgery.

While Carlisle was reading the testimony of Col. Breckinridge regarding his first visit to Miss Pollard, the colonel spoke up in correction of one of the statements concerning the Breckinridge Breckinridge. That should be Judge Breckinridge and not Gen. Breckinridge. That should be Judge Breckinridge and not Gen. Breckinridge. The lawyer laid stress upon the selection of a closed carriage for the ride from the seminary; compared the story of the colone that without any preliminary encouragement he had become intimate with her, with her story of having repulsed his advances, of his flattering "tongue which had been accustomed to sway large audiences, confined to an audience of one girl in a Cincinnati hack."

The mere fact of Col. Breckinridge, the Congressman, coming to take Madeline Pollard, the daughter of a Kentucky saddler, was a compliment and flattery to her. The statement of Col. Breckinridge was not worthy of credence, the Congressman, coming to take Madeline Pollard, the daughter of a Kentucky saddler, was a compliment and flattery to her. The statement of Col. Breckin ments that his relations with Miss Pollard continued through nine years and have had entirely without love or fascination, "a relation so low that I thought he would be afraid to idmit." Taking his own statement shat this woman was merely the plaything of his passions, it does not add to his credit that he should have taken such a woman as he claims the plaintiff to be, "to such a woman as Mrs. Blackburn had been shown to be, a woman of character, such standing, such surroundings."

Considering the colonel's own statement of how he had deceived Mrs. Blackburn, "a woman of the highest standing from his own State," the attorney asked the jury to think whether torney asked the jury to think whether they could trust him, under circumstances carrying such weighty inducements for him to misstate facts. Carsisle called attention to the appearance of Miss Pollard on the witness-stand, when, after two hours of direct examination, she had been subjected to a day and a half of cross-examination without being shaken on a material point. It would be easy for the defense to talk of her extraordinary acuteness, but only one of two conditions, a mind trained by the courts and experienced as a witness, or an and experienced as a witness, or an absolute adherence to the truth, could enable a person to do this, and it was doubtful if the former qualifications could avail in such an ordeal, if one was not tabling the form could avail in such an ordeal, if one was not telling the truth.

Canvassing the testimony of Sarah Goss and the metting her while Miss Pollard was at Sayre Institute. Carlisle came down to the birth of the first child, concerning which she said there was not a shadow of truth, even to carry out the defendant's insinuations that any other man besides himself might have been its father. Before Mr. Carlisle had finished speaking, the hour of addournment arrived. ing, the hour of adjournment arrived MILWAUKEE, April 9.—The spectacle of a United States Judge on triaibefore a Congressional commission is being presented in Milwaukee. At 3 orclock this afternoon, Congressmen Boatner of Louisiana, Terry of Arkansas and W. A. Stone of Pennsylvania, composing a sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, began the investigation of Judge Jenkins, famous for the Northern Pacific strike injunction, During the afternoon E. E. Clark, representing the Order of Railway Conductors, and T. P. Sargent, representing the Order of Railway Conductors, and T. P. Sargent, representing a railway employees' organization, Attorney Curtis of New York, representing the receivers and Attorney Miller, of this city, who assisted him, were present. Receivers Payne and Oakes and ex-Senator J. C. Spooner were also interested spectators.

Chairman Boatner opened the session by giving a simple outline of what the committee had been instructed to do, its authority, etc. He said the committee wished especially to ascertain how far, and in what respects the order had oppressed employees, and just how the men had construed the order. Grand Chief Clark was sworn. He said his organization provided that a committee representative of all the conductors in particular shall look into a grievance and report to him. He also looks into it, and if he thinks the facts warrant the action the committee may decide to take, he gives his sanction. Without this sanction the strike would be illegal. "And is it not a fact," put in Attorney Harper, "that a secret injunction was issued the day before?"

"No, a supplemental injunction was granted December 22. At the conference held December 22, however, the representative of the road held the answer until December 26."

"Then before the answer was made known," asked Mr. Boatner, "this supplemental injunction was issued?"

"Yes, sir."

"Yes, sir."
Clark said the road had given the employees notice, some time ago, when it was proposed to reduce wages, that such action should be taken. He had not been served with the injunction, although a United States marshal had hunted for him. Clark felt bound by the order, however, and would not have sanctioned a strike under the circumstances; also that he felt bound by the order not to quit the employ of the road, and could not strike. In regard to wages, he said the men were in one sense working on a scale agreed upon, and in another sense they were not. Clark said he did not think the injunction had done any harm so far as the Northern Pacific employees were concerned, but that it had been harmful in a general way to workingmen, as be believed it was an abridgement of their constitutional rights, and established a precedent which would be followed by all ceurts had not Congress been called upon to investigate.

BILL NYE BOWLING.

The Secret of His Wonderful Success Easily

The Secret of His Wonderful Success Easily

Explained.

(Chicago Record:) Bill Nye got one of his best stories from a personal experience in this city. He had been in ited to a bowling match at a private club, on Wells street. Charles Wacker, Fad Hill and several other congenial spirits were the hosts of the evening, and arranged a surprise for the humorist. By his own confession he did not know the difference between tenpins and a game of "cocked hat," but he was put in to bowl as Mr. Hild's partner, against two of the crack bowlers of the club.

When Nye pleked up the first ball and sent it sailing down the alley, as he had seen the others roll, it struck the corner pin, and, to his amazement and delight, the whole ten went toppling over, The next ball repeated the performance, and the way he made "strikes" and "spares" set the visiting spectators to wondering where the bald-headed athlete before them had learned the knack of the game. As for Nye, he didn't know just what to make of his success. At first he was inclined to attribute it to luck. Then, as the score rolled up under his name, he grew facetious and ventured to ask his hosts if they had any other game they would rather play. By the time the evening had approached its close he was brutally hilarious and twitted the experts for letting an ignoramus come in and beat them at their own game.

All this time the Chicagoans had been taking defeat after defeat as goodnoramus come in and beat them at their own game.

All this time the Chicagoans had been taking defeat after defeat as goodnaturedly as could be. When the last round had been ended Mr. Wacker. asked Nye if he wouldn't like to see the alley at the other end. When they got there the boy in charge of the pins was in a broad grin. "Show Mr. Nye how it works," suggested Wacker. And, thereupon, the boy took a very small rope from behind the cushion near by and slipped it around the pins deftly that a novice would scarcely suspect its presence. uspect its presence.
"But," said Mr. Nye, "what's the ope for?"

rope for?"
His companion laughed at the man's innocence. "Roll him one," he shouted to Hild, at the other end. As the librarian "rolled him one," Nye saw the boy give the rope a jerk and the whole mass of pins went tumbling, although the ball had slipped off into the gutter and missed the pins entirely.

Firing Guhs at Sea.

(Ashton Reporter:) To one unaccustomed to the experience, it is anything but pleasant to be on board of a line-of-battle ship at sea when the big guns are being fired. Before they are discharged the decks are cleared for action, and all the chairs in the cabin are laid down and tied together, while every bit of movable furniture is secured. The doctor goes round and makes sure that every man has had his ears stopped with cotton wool. The concussion when the charges are fired is tramendous, and the tronclad quivers from stem to stern with the vibration; in fact the shock of the explosion is so great that every pane of glass in the skylights is invariably shattered, and much of the ornamental woodwork is splintered. After a few hours of this rough play the carpenters have a busy time in making things look presentable once more, for the ship resembles a wreck when she has finished her practice. Nobody likes it. The sailors standing by the big gun sometimes find themselves thrown all of a heap across the deck, and after an hour or two the officers and men become black as sweeps. It is impossible to be well out of the way of annoyance, though perhaps the one place in the vessel where the guns trouble the crew the least is down in the engine-room, which is helow the level of the deck upon which most of the armament is put.

That these counties are destined to be two of the most thickly-populated counties of the State there can be no doubt. They are now in the formative period of growth and this is just the time for Los Angeles to get in and capture the trade. The merchants of San Francisco are beginning to wake up to the grow ing importance of the San Joaquin Valley trade and if our merchants are neg-

The natural advantages of Los Angeles as a distributing point for this great southwestern territory, extending from the southern boundary of Fresno county to the northern boundary of Sonora, and the eastern boundary of Fresno, or even further, into New Mexico, are very great; but, in order that we may reap the full benefit of these advantages. there must be energy and push on the part of our merchants. It is true that this city is western country, and has progressed so arrested as vagrants. The penalty to wagrancy is ninety days in the work-house at hard labor, unless the party able to give bonds as a California. Yet, even from this point of view, it is not already safe to sit down and take things for granted. San Diego has had, and still has, great ambi-tions. NULL AND VOID. The Hydrocyanic Fumigating Process De-

The Hydrocyanic Fumigating Process Deciared Public Property.

In the Uuited States Circuit Court yesterday Judge Ross rendered his decision on the demurrer interposed to the complaint in the case of W. B. Wall et al. vs. Henry Leek, an action to enjoin defendant from an alleged infringement of certain letters patent, and for an accounting of profits alleged to have been realized by defendant thereby, in accordance with the following brief but pithy opinion:

". The patent referred to in the bill, and which forms the basis of the suit, is for a process of fumigating suit, is for a process of fumigating trees and other plants. The specification of the application for the tion of the application for the patent (Specifications and Drawings of Patents, United States Patent Office, January, 1891, part 2, p. 2179,) declares: "It consists in fumigating the plant with hydrocyanic acid gas in the absence of light."

"The specification proceeds to declare: 'Hydrocyanic-acid gas has heretofore been employed in fumigating trees, but it has not been considered practicable, for the reason that if the gas were of sufficient strength to destroy the insects on the plant it also injured the foliage and fruit.

"'We have discovered that when the light is excluded the action of the gas is more effective in destroying insect life, and at the same time becomes harmless to plant life, unless used excessively.

" 'Our process differs from the ordinary "Our process differs from the ordinary process of fumigating with hydrocyanic-acid gas only in that we exclude the light. This may be done by means of the ciled tent or covering ordinarily used for such fumigation, provided the fumigation is done at night. If the work is done in the day-time the covering must be so colored as to exclude the actinic rays of light, but we do not believe it possible to produce satisfactory results with any colored tent in bright light.

"To illustrate our invention we will explain its use in fumigating an orange or lemon tree of twelve feet in height. The tree is first enveloped with an oiled or painted canvas in the ordinary way, such canvas being impervious to the rays of light and surrounding the tree. We then place in a vessel under the canvas three ounces of cyanide of potassium, then six ounces of water, and then pour into the vessel three ounces of sulphuric acid, and close the covering for a period of about fifteen minutes, The canvas is then removed. The vessel may be covered with a piece of sacking or other textile fabric after the sulphuric acid is poured into it. This will prevent the sprays from the To illustrate our invention we will the sulphuric acid is prays from the This will prevent the sprays from injuring chemicals from injuring

"It is obvious that hydrocyanic-acid gas may be produced by other chemicals than those mentioned; also that the time and the amount of gas employed may be varied.

"We have secured good results from a fumigation lasting only five minutes."
"Having thus described what the patentees state as their discovery, they declare that what they claim as new, and desire to secure by letters patent, is 'the process set forth of fumigating plants with hydrocyanic-acid gas, in the absence, substantially, of the actinic rays of light."
"The specification, as has been seen expressly recites the fact that the process of fumigating trees and plants with hydrocyanic-acid gas, by means of an oiled tent or covering, is old, and that the process for which they ask a patent differs from the ordinary process only in that the applicants 'exclude the light.' Yet, no method of excluding the light is stated or claimed. On the contrary, they declare that it 'may be done by means of the folication is done at night.' Of course, night excludes the light. Everybody knows that. Nor is the night patentable. The ordinary tent or covering of the oild process necessarily excludes, to a greater or lesser degree—depending and the extent to which it is colored—the actinic rays of light, which is that power of the sun's rays which changes the chemicals nature of the mixture. So, also, will the clouds, to a greater or less degree, exclude such the specifications, in no manner depends the clouds. And, after the sun sets and before it rises, they are entirely absent.

"The old process, as described in the specifications, in no manner depends upon the time it is used. It consists, as the specification expressly recites, of fumigating trees and plants with hydrocyanic-acid gas, by means of the ciled tent, or covering. Whether used by means of a thin or thick covering, heavily or lightly oiled, or not oiled at all, in bright daylight, or in the twilight, or at night, or in the same process, which the public is entitled to use, because it was old when the patentees applied for their patent. An old process does not become a new and patentable process by being used at night instead of in the daylime, or at any particular time, or in any particular state of the weather, or because better results are obtained by its use at one time than another. The court, being of the opinion that the patent is void, for want of novelty and invention, and that, in view of its recitals, it is so plainly so that it cannot be aided by evidence, it should be so declared on demurrer, without subjecting the parties to the costs of producing proof. (Blessing vs. Copper Works, 34 Fed. Rep., 753; Kaolatype Engraving Coropany vs. Hope, 30 Fed. Rep., 444.)"

CARNIVALS IN VENICE.

What the Old Affairs Were Like.

Where Lord Byron Describes One of Them, and Something Concerning the Los Angeles

Whether carnivals took their origin in the middle ages or not, they certainly during that period, and the theater of during that period, and the theater of their most profuse exploitation was in Venice. The yearly revels at which the carnival king in wide and gorgeous badge espoused the Adriatic, the casting of the wedding ring into the blue deep, the presence of Father Neptune and repre-sentations, curious Greek mythological characters, an abundant flow of wine in which nearly every one became more or which nearly every one became more or less drunk, together with profusion of flowers, the balls, the parties, the feasts and the like were the permanent circumstances of a Venetian carnival. Lord Byron in that impersonation of his called Breppo, has given us a picture of a Venetian carnival struck off with the pencil of a genius in the same airy vein of pleasantry which pervades everywhere over Venice during carnival season. The carnival features of the Flesta so far as they have been displayed, have been a great success, and they will draw during the present week immense crowds to the center of the city. You will form a unit of these crowds, and while you are down town don't forget to drop into the store of M. German and bid on some of those fine goods which are going off at a song. By reason of ill health Mr. German has been forced to close out his store, and he has chosen to give the public the benefit of his stock. It is being auctioned off daily, piece by piece, and any small change you may have in your clothes is sure to buy some article of good value if you but bid at the sales. The stock is high grade, first-class, comprising diamonds, opals, rubles, watches, chains and thousands of articles of ornamentation in jewelry. The sale is in progress each day, commencing at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. 326 South Spring street. which nearly every one became more or ess drunk, together with profusion of President Howell delivered his annual address, reviewing the work of the board during the past year, and made the following recommendations:

"I would call your attention to the importance of some sort of negotiations with the railroad companies, looking to the reduction of east-bound freight on some of the products of Southern California. There is, certainly, no good reason for their charging $1.20 per 10 pounds on dried fruits, $1.25 per 100 pounds on oranges, and then hauling our canned goods over the same lines our canned goods over the same lines at 50 cents per 100 pounds. Mind you, in making this report, it is not my intention to take issue with these great lines of railroads, crossing the continent as they do, and bringing us within a few days' reach of our Eastern friends, for we know too well the value of their assistance in developing our country; but let our remarks take the nature of an appeal for a reduction in rates on a few of our principal products.

ducts. "To my mind, one of the most desirable and most important things for this city, is the erection of an elegant, well-equipped hotel. Those we have already are good enough so far as they go, but we all know that they are unable to take care of our visitors. Would it not be well for this board to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens at large in an effort to bring about this much-needed improvement?"

He concluded by paying a tribute to the members and calling upon them to keep up the good work for Southern California.

Upon motion, the invitation was accepted, and the secretary directed to request the members of the board to meet at the board's rooms at noon, sharp.

The election resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen to serve as directors for the ensuing year, viz. Messrs. A. Jacoby, L. N. Breed, J. M. Johnston, E. P. Johnston, Roland P. Bishop and John S. Thayer. The newly-elected directors will meet to morrow morning at 9:30 a.m., sharp, in the board's rooms for organization. A. finance committee, consisting of Messrs. J. W. THE SCHOOL BOARD

One Session Where Peace and Harmony Prevailed.

Mr. Platt Granted a Further Leave of Absence for Ninety Days-The Salvation Army and the Schoolhouses.

Last night's meeting of the Board of Education was very harmonious. Possibly the unusual harmony may be explained by the fact that Dr. Wills and Mrs. Hughes were absent. All the other members of the board save Mr. Buehler were present, including Mr. Platt, who is in town from the Midwinter Fair for a few days, when President Pepper sounded his gavel.

A communication from the Northwest Improvement Association recommended that eight additional rooms and more grounds be added to the Castelar-street school. Referred, on motion of Mr. Trask, to the City Council.

Another communication from the same association recommending the purchase of certain lots adjoining the Alpine-street school-ground, was read, and Mr. Platt moved to refer to the

Mr. Stein said he could see no rea son for so referring it, but it was so referred. Mr. Buehler entered.

ments in the schools and charging a small fee for admission thereto—the receipts to be for the benefit of the army.

Mr. Trask said the board could temporarily dispose of the matter by filing it or referring to a committee. He believed, however, in giving, as far as possible, prompt answers to such communications. He therefore moved the request be denied. Adopted.

A communication from Mr. Platt asked that his leave of absence be extended to June 9.

The request was, on motion, granted, but in so doing the board entirely overlooked the provision of the city charter, that if any city officer be absent from the city for more than thirty days, without the consent of the City Council, the Council may declare the office vacant.

Superintendent Brown presented the following statistical report for the month ending March 30, 1894: Times tardy, teachers, 8; total number days absent, 3843; times tardy, pupils, 659; number bobys, enrolled, 5013; number girls enrolled, 5223; total number enrolled, 10,236; average number belonging, 3972; average daily attendance, 8880; per cent. of attendance, 95; number new pupils, boys, 136; girls, 109; total number of new pupils, 245; Superintendent's visits, 86; visits of members of Board of Education, 48; other visits, 1326.

On motion of Mr. Trask the names of Oren N. Roney and Antonio Schwannecke were placed on the substitute list. The resignation of Miss Leonora Hasler as teacher in the Temple-street school was accepted.

On motion it was greered that the janitors of the various schools be allowed one week's wages for the extra time they are employed in connection with the flesta.

It was ordered that bids be advertised for text-books for the coming year.

WONDERFUL CURES:

113-115 North Spring S!

THIS day will be ushered in by a visit from the angels; they will come in chariots with banners flying; the city will be crowded with strangers; every inch of space on the streets and stores will be crowded; this is the opening of the festivities that means an annual recurrence, and everybody should help make it typical of Los Angeles' enterprise. Introduced and fostered by the merchants, conducted upon business principles, every dollar will be rightfully and honestly expended. Pleasures of the highest character is our aim. Already the good feeling engendered has more than repaid the hard workers who have had the affair in hand. This giant city of the Far West will have more advertising of a favorable character than San Francisco will get out of the Midwinter Fair. This means a new era of prosperity. This means for the future an enlarement over the present plans. It means a closer intercourse among our business men, a higher regard for commercial integrity. For the present let us join hands and give the Angels and the strangers a hearty reception. Bear this in mind, the street decoration could never have been made the success it is if Mr. Howard, the superintendent of Westlake Park had not given it the attention he has night and day he has been at work with a a large body of men putting up the street decorations. He has done his work well. Give him all the credit. He is deserving. Before the festivities begin you may need something in the dry goods line. Perhaps a tie, a parasol, a hat or a cloak. It may be dress goods. We are showing a line of all-wool dress goods at 50c a yard that never had an equal in this city, strictly all-wool a full yard wide, small, neat mixtures, plain goods, cords and diagonal If the same goods had been imported into this country they would cost you fully a dollara yard. They are made in America. No duty, no exchange, no transportation, no commissions, that is the reason for the price. Carriage Parasols 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2. Sun shades, navy blue and black $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.50, $3 up to $6.50. Dresden Handles, gold, silver, ivory, natural sticks, celluloid, pearl, plain parasols are the style. Nothing in fancy goods unless it is the Fiesta colors. We have them. Don't you want a cloak or a cape. Our Cloak Department is the strongest department in the house. Over 200 styles of capes alone; over 300 styles of Jackets. All-wool jackets from $1 to $35; all-wool capes from $5 to $25; all well made, all good styles, all first-class for the money. There is a feast of good things in the Millinery Department. Nicely trimmed hats 95c, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.50, $3 up to the finest goods. We carry a large assortment from $1.50 up to $5 and show the best assortment of sailors from 25c to $3.50 each. Flowers, ribbons and laces are the big sellers this season. Large quantities of ribbons are used, larger quantities of laces are used. We never carried such a stock. Laces and ribbons abound. The sales are very large in both departments. The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California pays no interest on deposits in any form, offers no special inducements for business other than reliability when the customers exercise their right to demand their money.

In the matter of loans it looks more to reliability than high rates of interest, and desires no loans except from good and reliable parties, and then exacts good security, believing that no bank is better or more reliable than its loans.

There has been another upward move in barley. The mills have advanced the prise of rolled barley to $1.20, which makes whole barley worth about $1.15.
Me antime, hay has shaded off a little,
owing to an importation of timothy hay from Wershington, which is being offered at about $10. It is said that large quantities of this hay can be had in Washmiston at about $4, which, with a freight ratio of $4 per ton, or thereabouts, leaves a fadr profit to importers. It is probable, nowever, that considerable importations from that section would be followed by an advance in prices up there.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The week opened on the Stock Exchange with a firm tone to the speculation, and early prices were generally a fraction above the closing figures of Saturday. During the morning the trading was fairly active, and, except for some of the specialties, the market was steady to strong. During the afternoon the amount of business was slight and the dealings were irregular, the market closing dull but fairly steady, with a majority of the shares traded in showing an advance on the day's transactions. Chicago Gas was sold sharply at the opening on a report that the decision of the Attorney-General of Illinois in the quo warranto proceedings will be against the company. After a decline of per cent., followed by a reaction of % per cent., followed by a reaction of % per cent, encouraging reports were received, resulting in a recovery of % per cent, followed by a reaction of % per cent, and a raily of % per cent, making a net loss of % per cent. Sugar was second in point of activity, opening % per cent, higher, sold up % per cent, on aditional purchases induced by the belief that probably the tariff bill may not become a law, on which contingency the Sugar company would make large profits. A goodly proportion of the buying is said to have been for insiders. Later in the day realizations and a small bear raid caused a reduction of % per cent. The grangers were only moderately active, advancing a fraction in the morning and reacting during the afternoon. Burling and reacting during the stock advancing % per cent. The power and closing at the highest point touched. The purchases were induced by reports that that reorganization of the company would shortly be completed.

RAILROAD RECORD. THE TICKET AGENTS

Expected to Arrive in Force Tonight.

Their Heavy Train Belated in Arizona.

C. P. Huntington is Liberal to Land Buyers.

Putting Commodity Rates in Effect on AP Lines-It is a Postage Stamp Rate-Local and General

Notes.

The special train of eleven cars-nine sleepers, one baggage and one dining-car—used by the delegates of the Incar—used by the delegates of the in-ternational Association of Ticket Agents en route to this city will not arrive this morning, as was expected, it being reported late twelve hours or it being reported late twelve nours or more, and consequently the reception committee did not go to Colton last evening to meet and regale the vis-itors. It is the intention of the comitors. It is the intention of the com-mittee to go in the special car east, ward either at 8:30 this morning or 4:30 this afternoon, according to the reports that may be received today of the belated train's progress, and per-form the hospitable act contemplated. It is a matter of regret that the ticket agents and their wives could not ar-rive in time to see the flesta parade this afternoon. It is probable that if the train cannot reach Los Angeles before 11 or 12 tonight, if will be side-tracked at Colton or Ontario over night before 11 or 12 tonight, it will be side-tracked at Colton or Ontario over night and brought in early the next morn-ing in order to enable the visitors to see the country by daylight. In the opinion of the committee this would be better for all concerned, as the arrival here at a late hour would disarrange some of the plans prepared for their entertainment.

WEST-BOUND FREIGHT RATES.

The reduced freight from the East to California points will be in force on all the lines on the 12th. The class rates will not be disturbed, and only commodity rates will be affected, though at first it was announced that both would be reduced. The Union Pacific office here received official notice at noon yesterday of the adoption of the new tariff. The Burlington office received similar notice, and all the lines have the new rates in effect. On this subject the San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday had this:

"In speaking of the matter C. F. Smurr, the general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, said: "It is proposed by the lines running out of Chicago to establish the same rates to California terminals as are made from New York with the Same rates to California terminals as are made from New The reduced freight from the East to ria terminals as are made from New York via the Sunset route to the same points. If this proposition is carried out either rates from New York will be advanced or those from Chicago will be reduced. Which will be done has not yet been settled." "How can you afford to make the same rates from both points to this city?" was asked. The answer is intercity?" was asked. The care string.

"Mr. Smurr said that 'such rates are called postage-stamp rates, and are in effect on dried fruit east-bound, the same price being charged for fruit same price being charged for fruit esting.

"Mr. Smurr said that 'such rates are called postage-stamp rates, and are in effect on dried fruit east-bound, the same price being charged for fruit shipped to Missouri River points as to the Atlantic seaboard. Take raisins as an example: The most active competition on this fruit is in New York, where the foreign fruit enters. The rate from Fresno to New York, is made, therefore, low enough to meet competition, and largely covers the cost. We are, however, desirous of taking this business, as we also get at the same rates business which pays better to intermediate points, where there is less or very little competition. What the roads now propose to do, is to introduce this same postage-stamp rate west-bound as east-bound."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.-A circular was issued by the local represent-ative of the Union Pacific Railway Comative of the Union Pacific Railway Company, announcing a reduction in westbound freight rates to California terminals, taking effect April 12. On that day the Union Pacific system will apply the same commonity rates (not class rates) from Chicago, Missouri River and Mississippi River common points to terminals in this State as the Southern Pacific Company has in effect from New York and Atlantic seaboard points via the Sunset route, except that no cartoad rate will be less than 50 cents per hundred pounds. The reduction is made with the consent of the Southern Pacific, and in pursuance of the complaint of the Union Pacific that rates plaint of the Union Pacific that rates put into effect last year over the Sun-set route had the effect of diverting traffic from the Union Pacific system. The reductions in many instances are large REDUCING THE INTEREST. SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—C. P. Huntington has instructed the land de-partment of the Central Pacific Railroad Company to reduce the rate of in-terest on all land sales hereafter made to 6 per cent., and to reduce the rate on all existing contracts to 6 per cent. at the date of the next payment of annual interest, provided 10 per cent. of the un-paid balance of principal is paid at that time. This is a reduction of 1 per cent.

in the rate of interest on nearly $1,500,-S. H. H. CLARK WILL NOT RESIGN. ST. LOUIS, April 9.—President and Receiver S. H. H. Clark, of the Union Pacific Rallway, was today shown a dispatch from Omaha stating that he would soon resign his connection with the road and return to the Missouri Pacific system, because of a disagreement with the other receivers on wages and other questions. He denied positively that there was any disagreement, or that he is about to resign.

A HEAVY CUT.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The Atchison road today announced that on all commodities for California it would make the same rates from Chicago as are made from New York by the steam-Pacific Railway, was today shown a dis-the same rates from Chicago as are made from New York by the steam-ship lines of the Southern Pacific Sunset route, via New Orleans. This reduces rates on commodities from Chicago to California about 25 per cent. All the Chicago Western roads will make the same rates.

THE INDIANS.

An important feature of the parade

THE INDIANS.

An important feature of the parade will be the Indian contingent, one hundred strong, consisting principally of Yumas. They will appear resplendent in war-paint and buckskin dress, and with blankets that dazzle the sun in brightness and in colors that will make the average rainbow turn green with envy. They are Indians in the truest sense, and together will present a spectacle such as probably never before has been seen in any city on the Pacific Coast.

Harrison Fuller to when cific Coast.

Harrison Fuller, to whom was given the task of obtaining a fitting Indian representation in La Fiesta, has succeeded in inducing a large number of Indians to come to our celebration; and these, with their uncouth appearance and their wild dances, will attract executed attention.

ance and their wild dances, will attract great attention.

Tomorrow those on the Indian float will show Americans the intricacies of the Indian war-dance and step-dance, and on Wednesday night the scalp-dance will be performed, and a representation will be given of burning an Indian woman at the stake.

The warriors have come with a large assortment of scalps, which are sewn to their buckskin garments as ornamental fringes.

Jose Palmee, the chief of the Yumas, could not be persuaded to lay aside his dimity to the extent of allowing himself to visit the festival. In his place, however, will appear William Mobave, who, if not a veritable chief, has enough dignity and sang froid to atone for any loss of tribal distinction. William is the only Indian among them who speaks English, and he rules the others in a manner that shows that he could give cards and spades to the King of the Cannibal Islands, and still beat the game.

The Indians are a little sore (in spirit) at being obliged to ride from Yuma in a box-bar, yet-the hospitality they have received since their arrival has served to alleviate their pangs, and they will be ready today to dance their sprightliest and give their loudest warwhoops for the edification of thousands of admiring spectators.

Here the jealousies and animosities of remote nations, races and religions were forgotten, and replaced by a hopeful brotherhood of humanity, amid the most notable triumphs of modern science, art, and handicrafts. It was the dawn of a new day, a forerunner of the millennial peace, a point of departure for unimaginable future developments of humanity.

Such an event deserves a marvelous record of its inception and development and triumph—and it has found it. The great chiefs of the fair—men like Burnham, Millet and others—are to unite in the preparation of a phea great number of pictures, all designed from original sketches made at the fair.

The illustrations for this book are one of the most interesting features connected with the great undertaking. There are to be 100 full page reproductions, in colors, of original paintings made by fifty of the leading artists of America, working directly from sketches made during the fair. In addition to these, there are to be several hundred illustrations in black and white scattered through the text, which are to be executed by fifty-four of the leading artists and decorators of America. Each artist has been selected by the Board of Executive Control, and the aim of the society has been to make the lists, both of painters and artists, representative of the foremost talent of the day.

The perfected results of these unusual literary and artistic labors will be the crowning triumph of modern book-making. It will bear the appropriate and descriptive name of the "Book of the Builders." The actual cost of each single copy will be

A magnificent treasury of art and literature like this, besides its undoubted qualities of entertaining and interesting, has also remarkable value as a means of instruction. It is, therefore, an ideal book for the family, the library or the office, and every one should possess it.

It will be a valuable condensation of the greater and more encyclopedic work, retaining all the most interesting and descriptive attems and hundreds of the most beautiful pictures. It will appear fortnightly in twenty-five parts, printed on fine plate paper, and will not be sold at the book stores.

The announcement gives the full particulars of the plan of sale of this limited edition. A year's subscription to The Times will entitle the subscriber to the "right of purchase" of one complete set of the twenty-five parts of the "Book of the Bullders," at the nominal cost of only 25 cents a part. The cash payments merely defray the cost of manufacture of the book. The entire object of the plan is to increase the clientage of The Times by offering, in connection with the paper, a premium gift of incomparable value and permanent interest.

In all the wide range of literature and art nothing has been found which will compare with this "Book of the Builders" in novelty, attractiveness and educational capabilities. The pictures, also, prepared with the utmost skill by nearly one hundred of the

PASADENA.

The Republicans Make a Clean Sweep at the Election.

The Straight Ticket Elected by a Big Maority-City Council in Session-New Electric Road-Brevities.

PASADENA, April 9.—(Special Correspondence.) The Republicans swept the field at the city election on Monday. For the first time in local history a straight Republican ticket was placed in nomination, and every man on it was elected by a big majority. The polls in the six precincts closed at 5 o'clock, during which time a total of 1067 votes were cast. Some of the candidates did some lively electioneering during the day, but the voting was unattended by any special excitement. A dozen or more public conveyances, bearing banners advocating the candidacy of this and that candidate, were at the disposal of the voters, many of whom were driven to the polls. While it was generally believed that the Republican ticket had a walkover, the majorities which the respective nomines publican ticket had a walkover, the majorities which the respective nominees thereon piled up were unexpectedly large. Pete Stell, who ran on an independent ticket for City Trustee, polled a much smaller vote than his friends anticipated, and James Clarke, who was a candidate for re-election on the Board of Trustees, received less votes than had been counted upon. Mr. Clarke's only fault in the eyes of the voters seems to be that he is a Democrat. The nominees on the Populist ticket did not figure conspicuously in the fight. The Republicans simply set out to elect a representative body of men on party principles, and they did it in a manner so emphatic that it will not soon be forgotten.

The ticket elected is as follows:
City Trustees—T. P. Lukens, Sherman Washburn, H. M. Hamilton; Clerk, Heman Dyer; Treasurer, H. C. Hotaling; Marshal, John T. Buchanan.

Following is a complete table showing the number of votes cast for each candi-

ELECTION ECHOES.

Heman Dyer had the field to himself. There was only one vote cast against him. That vote was for his deputy, N. S. Bangham, and it is hinted that it was cast by Mr. Dyer himself.

One vote was cast in the Second precinct for F. P. Boynton for Treasurer. Hotaling's majority over Wooster was 636. Buchanan's majority over Withill was 748.

Mr. Clarke polled 188 more votes than did Mr. Stell.

Mr. Washburn received the highest number of votes for Trustee, and Mr. Cahill captured the booby prize.

The meeting then adjourned.

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.

The gratifying news, which was published exclusively by The Times on Sunday, to the effect that a new company had been organized in Pasadena to begin at once the construction of an electric road to Los Angeles, has since been the chief topic of public discussion. On Monday E. C. Webster, who is at the head of the undertaking, with characteristic push, secured an extension of the time of the franchise for an electric road over the line operated by the Pasadena Street Railway Company, until January 1, 1895, the terms of which are fully set forth in the Council proceedings. Work will be begun on Fair Oaks avenue this week. The newly-organized company means business, and it is safe to predict that within a year it will control and operate by electricity all of the local lines of street railways in harmony with the Consolidated Company of Los Angeles.

The steamer Pasadena, having discharged her cargo, sailed for the North last night, and the Westport took her place at the berth. As she had been delayed for several days about discharging her cargo her crew worked all night by electric light. This will give the north side of the wharf to the barkentime North Bend, which has a cargo of Gray's Harbor timber, consigned to the Bryson Lumber Company.

There was great hurrahing in Redondo last night when the news of the Chamber of Commerce election was announced. But at 8:30 p.m. the cheering news came that San Pedro had carried the day and the rejoicing was general.

REDLANDS. April 5.—(Special Correspondence.) The recent sale of the motor depot property on Orange street, by J. A. Osburn to the Southern Pacific Company, and the subsequent report that the Southern Pacific Company, and the subsequent report that the Southern Pacific Company had purchased the property with a view of erecting a substantial depot thereon, does not seem to be entirely satisfactory to many of Rediands's citizens. Orange street is the most extensively traveled of any thoroughfare in the city, and for the corporation in question to erect a permanent station on this street will, the people believe, greatly interfere with the line of travel with teams and otherwise, while the trains are pulling in and out of the station. This interference is already apparent, as the motor depot has been the stopping place for all the Southern Pacific trains, which the people tolerated because they felt that it would only be a matter of a few years when the large, commodious depot which is situated about forty rods west of Orange street on the Southern Pacific's line, and owned by that company, would be used by them for their permanent station. But the corporation's late purchase seems to portend different results, hence the apprehension.

This morning some one who knew nothing about the matter swore to a complaint, and a warrint was issued. When the deputy sheriff came over and ascertained the situation, he let the prisoner go, after having him in his custody util the District Attorneys of the two counties could settle in which county he should be tried. THE EAST SIDE.

A Young Wheelman's Brush With a Cable Car. An incident occurred yesterday afternoon which shows how careless some people are with reference to moving street-cars. A cable-train was coming up the avenue and had reached the corner of Truman street, when a bi-cycle-rider came from the other direc-tion, the young man astride the wheel evidently unaware that the road-race was over, and "scorching" for dear life. He saw the car coming, but evidently wanted to appear smart, so instead of keeping on his own side of the street, he waited till he was about ten feet from the front of the dummy, and then shot across directly in front of the moving train.

The gripman threw the rope and applied his brakes, and the wheelman escaped injury, his machine merely brushing some of the fiesta decorations on the front of the dummy as he whirled by. Gripman King was in charge of the dummy, and those who know Sam can realize how close a call it was when it is recorded that he turned pale. But for his prompt action the fellow on the bicycle would certainly have killed, as a collision at the rate of speed he was going could scarcely have resulted otherwise. As one of the eye-witness remarked: "The only cause for regret, if that man had been killed, would have been, in my mind at least, the thought that the gripman would have to lose a day's time and a consequent slice of his salary on account of attending the inquest."

The police of the Bast Side are having an easy time of it just now, or would have were it not for the extra duty they are called on to perform on the other side of, the river. Capt. Mc-Keag yesterday brought in a "mellow" drunk from Griffin avenue, but this is the only inmate the, little lock-up has had for several days.

WELCOME

LA FIESTA.

All Southern California Should Participate.

To our festivities and assure you the like of which has never been seen hereabouts. Your presence will encourage the promoters to greater and nobler efforts next year and stimulate the enthusiasm now smouldering within all proud Los Angeles breasts. Make our stores your headquarters, we will do all in our power to make your visit profitable and enjoyable. If you have not been here for some time we will feel proud in having given you an expression of our methods, appearance and wares. During the past year all have been improved. A comparison is invited upon quality and price. Our mission is now to supply the best materials at the very lowest quotations. Inspect our Dress Goods, and Silks, and quality carried.

Walk into our Millinery Parlors; see the handsomest in the State, and note the prices for artistic work. Enter our Shoe Department; its appearance and makes of Shoes carried will convince you this is Shoe Paradise. Our Drapery Department is a new one, under the supervision of the most artistic Draper in Southern California. Our establishment is the largest in point of size, the greatest in variety and the safest place to trade. One price and spot cash. The William K. Klusmann Company, limited, filed articles of incorporapany, limited, filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the County Clerk.
The purpose of the company is to deal in essential oils, etc., and prepare medicines. John W. Vaughn, N. F.
Wynne, Charles Elberson, J. S. Wilde and W. H. Klusmann compose the board of directors.

Articles were also filed by the Irrigation and Manufacturing Company, with Rudolph Wirtz, W. J. Woodward,
Walter Jones, Edward Mailm and A. M.
Wirtz as directors. The latter company starts out with $5500 of their $25,000 capital stock paid up.

Dress Goods

Dress Goods,

This is the leading department of the house, and we are willing to be judged by the values it shows as to what we can do for you in every department. Every train and express brings us novelities of the latest productions in dress fabrics that keep our counters full and enable us to show the dressiest things that the inventive genius of the modern weaver can produce.

5c.—For tomorrow. New Shorehan suitings, 44-inch wide, never displayed before; silk and wool checks, pin-head, stripes, desirable combinations, 44-inch wide and a texture that will make up one of the nobblest suits concelvable.

5c.—Javanese Challies A handsome fabric with a silk stripe and magnificent printings. This quality is very reasonable at $1 a yard.

5c.—Brillianteen Challies. Printed in beautiful colors upon a light ground brillianteen, similar to mohair; entirely new this season.

7c.—Striped Veloures, 44-inch wide, novelties this season, and a quality of dress materials that is worth $1.25 a yard.

5c.—Stik and wool pin-head stripes, imported fabrics, the like of which you will see quoted elsewhere at $1.50c.—40-inch Bastistes and Nuns-veiling. A superior quality of imported novelties in street and evening shades that has never been sold under 75 cents.

45c.—These are 38-inch silk and wool novelty dress goods. New this season. A quality of goods we purchased to sell at 75 cents, but found an inferior quality offered at 50 cents in a similar design, and marked ours down to 45 cents.

50c.—This is a line of imported French Diagonal cloth, the value of which we are safe in placing at 85 cents a yard. It costs 65 cents to import any foreign material that is worth placing on the counters.

75c and $1.—We will show you the handsomest line of black novelties at 75 cents that you have ever seen sold at $1. At $1 we will show you our own importations, exclusive styles in black and gray second mourning dress goods. These are novelties, and to quote a very low figure we would say they are specially reasonable at $1.25.

70c.—We are

DR. KOCH'S COUGH MIXTURE, 25c. Laces, Veils, Embroideries. These goods consist exclusively of novelties. It is reinforced daily with the latest goods; the prices will appeal to you at once as being consistent with quality.

Millinery.

Millinery.

The best evidence of our popularity is the crowded condition of our parlors from early morn until closing time. We have been obliged to work nights this season to keep pace with our orders—something that has never occurred before in the history of our business. Artistic millinery at reasonable prices is the sole reason of our success. This house is popular by reason of its prices, and we have emphasized this more this season in this department than at any time since we have been in business. Our facilities are greater: our stock is larger; our artists superior, and our prices lower than any millinery establishment in Los Angeles.

Wash Fabrics.

Wash l'abrics.

Selling Calico, Musjin, Sheeting and staple domestics at mill prices. Our line of wash fabrics and printed goods from $1-3 cents up to 50 cents a yard is the largest and most varied in Southern California for price and quality. The crowds that are constantly in front of these counters evidence to you that this is the proper place to purchase.

We open tomorrow three cases of printed wash fabrics at 12% and 15c that will astonish you both in point of price and quality, as well as beauty of design.

LA MAZENO KID GLOVES, $1:50.

LA MAZENO KID GLOVES. $1:50. Parasols.

We have just received our spring line of carriage and sun shades, as well as noveltier in parasols. They range in brice from 95c for an all-slik, 12-inch carriage shade, to $13.50 for a novelty, lace-trimmed parasol. The values are sterling, qualities better and prices lower than previous seasons.

Draperies.

We have on sale tomorrow four different lines of Lace Curtains at $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50. We will simply add that they are the greatest bargains we have ever shown in our drapery department. We do this simply to introduce you to our new departure. We are carrying a more extended line, and with the arrival of our new goods we will show the handsomest creations of drapery art. Will then be in position to accept contracts for the draping of houses complete. of houses complete.

WEAR LA MAZENO KID GLOVES.

Shoes.

The time is past when it is necessary for us to tell you that we are leaders in the shoe business of the town. Wright & Peters, Foster & Co. and the other makers of Ladies' Shoes; Dugan & Hudson, J. & T. Cousins and others are the leaders of Children's Shoes; Edwin Clapp, J. S. Turner and Lilly Brackett head the list in Men's Shoes. With this array for fit, style and beauty, and our popular prices, we leave the rest to you. As an additional incentive to trade, we have at all times a particularly large assortment of broken lines of Men's, Ladies' and Children's Shoes and remnants of the Hewes stock that we are anxious to sell and dispose of at even less than 65c on the dollar of what we paid for them. We are carrying too many Men's Shoes, and will make it an object in price to have you come and relieve us of the surplus.

In shirt waists we are carrying double the stock we have ever carried any previous season, and giving twice the values; our line begins at 50c for the unlaundered collars and cuffs, soft, plaited bosom, shirt waists, and runs up to $12 apiece for novelties and silk.
